Chiropractic: Not magic but common sense!

Although chiropractic is the 3rd largest healthcare profession in the world, after modern medicine and dentistry, they are still called “bonecrackers”.

Nearly 125 years ago Chiropractic started in America and is still surrounded by myths, although it has been recognized by law and insurance in many countries in the world.

Hippocrates himself, founder of modern medicine, already stated in 400 BC, that the cause of many complaints lie within the spinal column and its nervous system within. Founder of chiropractic (1896) D.D. Palmer went even further and claimed that all ailments have their origin in disfunction of the vertebral column.

Chiropractor Erik Wolters explains: “The spinal cord is protected by the vertebral column. The nerves that come out go to all organs, musculoskeletal system and all bodily function”.

Any misalignment or fixation can lead to faulty information whereby the target organ or muscle may function differently.

The chiropractor adjusts the vertebrae, by applying pressure at the articulation, manually or by instrument. A ‘popping’ sound may occur, which is sound energy that comes free by the sudden motion of the joint.

Healing Power

Despite the ongoing battle for recognition within the Portuguese health system, particularly with the insurance companies, many people have found their way to the Chiropractor.

“The practice proves that many patients benefit a great deal from Chiropractic treatment”, States Erik Wolters. It is the remedy for many complaints such as: pain in the back&neck, headaches, herniated discs, sciatica, whiplash, dizziness, crybabies and all complaints of the joints&muscles.

Patients are often surprised by the speedy recovery of their chronic complaints. Even after different therapies without any result. It’s like magic!”. Is what can be heard in the Chiropractic clinic.

The holistic Approach

The Chiropractor pays attention to all aspects of the complaint in relation with the patient:

The physical as well as the mental aspect, but also the lifestyle.

The Chiropractic approach is an effective, specialized care, whereby specific spinal adjustments are combined with advice, guidance and personal attention to the patient.

“Research and experience have shown that our approach can help a great deal of people with neck and back problems to a state of better quality of life”. Says Erik Wolters.

“Furthermore, our role in the general health system is, because of its preventative nature, cost-effective for employer, patient and insurance company.
